

Why I stopped loving DevOps and started Worrying

A provocation by Marcel Britsch

www.beautifulabstraction.com

Chaos or Bureaucracy

DevOps saved us

or did it?

The Good,...

... the

Bad & Ugly

So why does it still go

Wrong?

Cloudnative

Cargoculting

Hypedriven

Leadership
& CV-driven development

Bikeshedding

Building by Default & Goldplating

Misunderstood goals are the real

Reason

we keep messing up

All we want is

Features

in the hands of users, sustainably at pace & with feedback loops

At minimum our pipeline is an Enabler

At its best

Competitive Advantage

So how do we Fix this?

Focus on not Tools Outcomes

Mind your Context

Think Thinnest
sufficiently reliable Platform

DevOps is not the goal Value delivery is

BEAUTIFUL
ABSTRACTION

Marcel Britsch

Product consultant and facilitator

Web: www.beautifulabstraction.com

Blog: www.thedigitalbusinessanalyst.com